THE POET BURNS DEFENDS

He Was Not Dressed to Please.

So the Judge Refused to Naturalize Him.

Was All Right in Every Other Respect But His Working Clothes—Was It Contempt?

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 3.—Judge Borden of New Bedford last week refused to allow the oath of allegiance to be administered to an applicant for naturalization because the man appeared in court in a butcher's frock that was not over clean and attired in his working clothes. (The man who aspired to citizenship was Manuel Bernardo de Mello who was born at the Western islands, and is now a thrifty grocer doing business at the South End. Mr. De Mello was represented by J. I. Da Terra. The evidence as to the applicant's age when he arrived in this country, his continued residence here, and his character and reputation was satisfactory.

When, however, the point was reached where, in the natural order of things, Mr. De Mello would be allowed to renounce his allegiance to Carlos, king of Portugal, whose subject he has heretofore been, the court called a halt. The judge asked Mr. De Mello with considerable particularity as to how long ago he knew that he would appear in court today to be naturalized, and received a reply that it was when he was informed by his counsel, Mr. Da Terra. "How long ago was that?" insisted the judge. "A couple of weeks or more, I should think." "Well, I will not naturalize you in that garb; your witness look respectable and you don't. When you are coming to court you should dress decently. Go back home, change your clothes, and come again." Mr. De Mello explained that he had been too busy to dress up and went into the court, therefore, just as he came from his store. The explanation did not cause the judge to relent in the least. Mr. Da Terra was informed that further attendance of the witnesses would not be necessary. Mr. De Mello may become a citizen any time that he chooses to appear before the judge with his Sunday clothes on.

OUR FOLKS AT THE COAST.

They Are Enjoying a Continual Round of Pleasure.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—(Special Correspondence of The Republican).—Phoenix at the seashore. Indeed it does look as if the entire population of Arizona's capital had been removed to this city and the numerous adjacent places. To walk the streets of Los Angeles is almost like promenading Washington street at home. You cannot traverse a block without meeting several Phoenix people. All say they are enjoying themselves to the utmost. Nicholson, the Phoenix tailor, and family entertained a few Phoenix friends last Tuesday at their cosy cottage at Coronado Beach. Those present were: M. J. Galpin and family, Mrs. P. P. Parker and daughter and Mr. Nissen of Phoenix.

Among the interesting features of the day was a fishing excursion in which young Willie Galpin succeeded in carrying off the honors of the day. He successfully landed a shark that weighed 150 pounds and was six feet three inches in length. The boy was lionized and made a hero. The party had a splendid time on an excursion to the Point Loma lighthouse.

A steamboat party, made up entirely of Phoenixians, was an event at Long Beach on Friday. It is needless to remark that all who participated had a most enjoyable time. The beach is alive with bathers and here again is Phoenix in evidence. A man got beyond his depth yesterday and was drowned, and two others were only saved from a like fate by the prompt work of the life savers. So far no casualty has happened to any of our people in the surf.

Misses Ella Sears and Ora Cox are at Long Beach and the young ladies have the bloom of perfect health on their cheeks. The young ladies are making the most of their outing.

Among the late arrivals at San Diego was Superintendent Creager of the Phoenix public schools. He intends to remain until the schools open.

Fred Ward and Will Winton, two popular young Phoenix boys, are also at San Diego and he it said to their credit they are not slow in making the acquaintance of the many pretty girls there. The constant demand for ice cream by the girls is beginning to have its effect on these boys and they are beginning to look sad. More anon.

A. PHOENIX GIRL.

HE HUGGED HER.

And That Caused the Riot of Races at Jasper.

JASPER, Fla., Aug. 3.—Advice from Haggard's turpentine still, the scene of the race riot Saturday night, state that matters are in an unsettled condition and that there may be further territorial library, $6. All of the turpentine farm and Haggard will be forced to close down at a loss of thousands of dollars.

There is considerable feeling against Haggard on the part of some of the whites. They seem to think that he sympathizes with the negroes and knows where some of them are sequestered.

A committee of white men waited on Haggard today and told him that he must produce three of the negroes by Saturday. The riot was precipitated by John Green (white) hugging the wife of a negro.

ANXIOUS TO SELL.

Cincinnati Trying to Get Rid of an Unsuccessful Venture.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3.—For several years the city of Cincinnati has been trying municipal ownership of the Cincinnati & Southern line. Recently an offer for the property was made by representatives of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the Southern railway. The Southern road is exceedingly anxious to acquire the property, as it would then have a splendid system of terminals and a lake exit and would thus be advanced to a commanding position in transportation competition in the Buckeye state, and add largely to its importance as one of the great National lines.

In order to test the feeling of the citizens, the city is holding an election today on the proposition to sell. The line has a bonded indebtedness of $19,000,000 and it has required a tax each year on city property to meet the deficit, as the line is not a paying one when operated alone. The election is being watched with deep interest by the railroad world and an impression prevails that the votes will be in favor of the sale.

SHE WILL FIND OUT.

Seventeen-Year-Old White Girl Elopes With an Indian.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Aug. 3.—Kittie Sykes, the 17-year-old daughter of James Sykes, a prominent farmer living north of Warrensburg, eloped last night with Wise Ward, a half-breed Chickasaw Indian. Some weeks ago a family named Ward, consisting of husband and wife, daughter and three sons, arrived in Warrensburg and camped just north of town. The old lady is a full blood Chickasaw and said to be a fortune teller and Indian doctor. She plied her trade successfully, but the rest of the family were worthless. Wise Ward, one of the young men, made love to Kittie Sykes, with such success that he finally induced her to leave a good home to go with him. The girl's parents are nearly distracted and the father came to town today and swore out a warrant for the half-breed on the charge of abduction.

LIFE AND DEATH.

Twins Born While Three Other Babies Were Being Buried.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 3.—While the bodies of three children of Mr. and Mrs. George Cure were being carried to the Hudson county Catholic cemetery on Jersey City Heights one day last week, followed by the father, Mrs. Cure gave birth to twins in the Bayonne hospital and dispensary. The mother is doing as well as may be expected under the circumstances, and may be soon convalescent. The twins are pretty girls and are healthy.

A week ago one of the three buried yesterday was stricken with diphtheria, and although the customary precautions were taken to prevent the spread of the disease by the health board the other two children were stricken before they could be removed. The first one died on Monday morning and the other two succumbed within a few hours afterward.

BURKE COCHRAN'S VIEWS.

Hard to Tell Just What Burke Does Want.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The Hon. Burke Cochran was asked tonight if he would support a ticket if one were nominated notwithstanding the views expressed in his interview published yesterday. He said: "If a convention be held at which all Democrats can be represented, who, believing that the party has been betrayed at Chicago, are determined that its principles shall not perish for lack of efficient organization, and if a free interchange of opinion be had among its members, I should be strongly inclined to accept its decision. I think it more important that the Democratic opponents of Mr. Bryan should be united in one movement than that any particular form of co-opposition should be adopted."

WOOL FAILURE.

BOSTON, Aug. 1.—The wool commission firm of W. D. Eaton & Co. made an assignment today. Liabilities, $240,000.

GORMAN WILL WORK.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Senator Gorman will aid in conducting the Democratic campaign.

ON IRRIGATION BUSINESS

Preparing for the National Congress.

Will Convene in Phoenix Next December.

Hoping for Congressional Appropriations for Arid Regions—McClintock at Work.

DENVER, July 31.—The Denver Republican says: An appreciable addition to the amount of humidity in the atmosphere was noticeable in the vicinity of the Windsor hotel. It was due, doubtless, to the arrival in Denver of a number of members of the executive committee of the National irrigation congress, who have come to arrange the details of their forthcoming convention at Phoenix, Ariz.

Representing, as they do, a large proportion of the population of the west to say nothing of several southern, eastern and middle states, they have lately awakened to the possible advantages of irrigation, it is not surprising that these delegates should be men whose mental force is evident even to a casual observer. It goes without saying that they are well informed and intensely interested in the subject of irrigation. They expressed last night their determination to make the next convention of the congress notable for the accomplishment of actual business and the promulgation of measures destined to secure the National legislation so necessary to the proper management and development of irrigation for the country at large.

At the first session of the committee, which took place at the Windsor last night, the following were present:

E. R. Moses, chairman.
James H. McClintock, acting secretary, representing C. M. Helntz, National secretary and National committeeman for Arizona.

Max Frost, New Mexico.
W. E. Pedrick, Colorado.
J. S. Emery, National lecturer, Kansas.

Lute Wilcox, Colorado.
F. H. Newell, chief of the hydrographic survey, Washington, D. C.
D. H. Anderson, editor of Wind and Water, Chicago.

It was decided that the next convention shall be held at Phoenix, Ariz., on December 15, 16, 17 and 18, 1896. Invitations were received from the city of Phoenix and the Maricopa club of that city expressing a desire to entertain the congress. (The local committee of arrangements also wrote promising to provide free for the convention an abundance of advertising matter, a suitable hall, a bureau of accommodation, a public reception and to furnish transportation for the inspection of irrigation systems in the vicinity of Phoenix. Delegate McClintock stated that arrangements are already made for excursions in connection with the convention that will extend to southern California.

A preliminary outline of a programme of business for the convention was discussed and will be probably finally adopted today. All present were in favor of formulating bills to be presented to congress in the interest of irrigation generally and particularly to secure an adequate share of the congressional appropriations for internal improvements. As some of the committee expressed it: "The east has been getting an immense amount of money for its rivers and harbors. We of the west believe that we are entitled to a share of it for the improvement of our irrigating systems. It is not a wholly sectional demand, either, for the utilization of irrigation is increasing in the east for the purpose of forcing fruit, particularly. It has been found that the best results can be secured by supplying water just when it is needed most there and it has also proved invaluable in cases of extraordinary drought."

Every possible effort will be made at the forthcoming convention toward the creation of a National irrigation commission, to be under the authority of congress, to be composed of men familiar with the condition of the arid region and including skilled engineers. The proposed plan of campaign also includes the appointment of an international commission to act in conjunction with Mexican and Canadian representatives in adjudicating conflicting rights that have already arisen or that may arise on streams of an international character, such as the Rio Grande. These matters will be discussed at the present meeting of the executive committee with a view of preparing for comprehensive and decisive action upon them by the convention. The committee will meet this morning at 9 o'clock and is likely to continue in session throughout the day.

ROYAL REGATTA.

Very Few Yachts Flying the Stars and Stripes.

COWES, Aug. 3.—The Regatta Royal London Yacht club today marked the opening of the Cowes week for 1896. There are fewer yachts flying stars and stripes in these waters than in 1895. The Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York were on the Royal yacht Osborne. The Britannia, Ailsa, Caress and Sati-net started in the race for yachts and exceeded the forty rating. The course was fifty miles. The Britannia was the first home, Ailsa second; Sati-net third, but Caress won on time allowance.

THE CLEVELAND STRIKE

Arming, Drilling, Preparing for War.

The Situation Alarming and Serious.

Strikers Demand that Non-Union Men Be Disarmed—Police and Militia Kept Busy.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—The situation of the labor strike is assuming a critical condition in many respects. About 200 men went to work this morning at the Brown hoisting works, guarded by four companies of militia and a large force of police.

The non-union men are all armed and this fact becoming known the strikers are said to be arming, forming in companies for drill and otherwise preparing for hostilities.

The police and militia are keeping the strikers from congregating. So far there has been no outbreak.

This morning the threat of a sympathetic strike took form when nearly 100 men employed by the Van Wagner & Williams company of hardware manufacturers laid down their tools and walked out. They said that they had no grievance, but were in sympathy with the Brown hoisting works men.

Committees have been out notifying other factories and the calling out bids fair to become general in the city. There is talk of a demand being made to disarm the non-unionists.

At noon today there were five companies of militia on duty at the Brown works.

There is no doubt that the conditions are more serious than at any time from the start.

CONNIE AND GRACIE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Miss Grace Wilson were married at noon today at the Wilson residence, by the Rev. Wm. P. Pott, assistant rector of St. Thomas church. The wedding was private.

Fair and also all letters received by her from Fair.

ALTGELD DENIES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Governor Altgeld asserted today that he had no desire to be the attorney general in Bryan's cabinet, and declared there was no truth whatsoever in the story that he had made a bargain with Mr. Bryan to receive a portfolio in return for the support of the Illinois delegation in the convention.
